

Frosh Candidates Speak, Prepare for Final Voting

Freshmen class officers-candidates were interviewed on Radio KXQ, 1480, prior to final voting which will take place between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., Thursday and Friday.

Featured on Tuesday night's "You in the Air—Everywhere!" program on KXQ were the presidential, vice-presidential and senatorial candidates. Wednesday night the senatorial nominees are interviewed by the same emcee, Andre Mostert.

Senator Hits Duo Threat in Speech

"There are two great dangers which our country today," said John Bernhard, candidate for Utah State Senate, "and they are obvious and the obvious." The obvious, said Mr. Bernhard, "is Republicanism, Wednesday, is the Communist threat. This threat is ever present, and it is the duty of all Americans to oppress this with vigilance, denance, and vigor."

The ubiquitous threat, he said, the internal danger of our welfare program. "It is our demand for bread and circuses that is a cause for great alarm," he added. Mr. Bernhard warned against what he termed "hypnotized Republicans." Hypnotized Republicans are those that divide into camps of Goldwater Republicans, Ikeon Republicans, and Rockefeller Republicans. Nothing could be more dangerous to the party, he expressed.

"There is nothing odd about the OP," he said. "In fact, it is so voluntary, President Kennedy having nightmares that it fright."

Mr. Bernhard has been active as director of Provo Chamber of Commerce, Provo Rotary Club, and he is currently serving as incumbent State Senator under the appointment of Governor George Hyde last April.

He is now on leave of absence on BYU as a member of the administrative council.

Presidential nominee Rulon Huntsman explained his plans for a Freshman Council and expressed his shock at the low number of voters at the last election. "We have a responsibility as Latter-day Saint students to vote," he said.

Another pretty hopeful, Merwin D. Grant, also outlined his plans for a Freshman Council and pledged himself to "hard work and the unity of the Freshman class."

Other candidates are Art Berg and Kim Jacobs for vice president; Cheryl Jensen and Sue Larson for secretary, and Steve Hanks, Bobbi Hansen, Rick Patterson, Mike Lund, Arrol Doon Wheeler, Donald Brown, Joan Toronto, and Dan Bales for senator.

Polls will be at the Eyring Science Center, Knight Bldg., Smith Family Living Center, Smith Memorial Bldg., and Clark Student Service Center. These will be inside if the weather is bad, outside if the weather is fair.

Students will need their activity cards to vote, reminded by McKnight, election chairman. "Voter" badges will be given out to participating students.

Campus Closet To Illustrate New Fashions

Well-dressed roving ambassadors and student leaders have been delegated this week to publicize the annual AWM-AMS Fashion Show "New Frontiers in Style," to be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

"A campus clothes closet" will be presented to illustrate the ideal BYU wardrobe. In addition, one thousand dollars in door prizes will be awarded through the courtesy of Clark's for Him and Her, Leven's, and Provo Sporting Goods.

Bishop John Vandenburg of the Presiding Bishopric, will be the honored guest at the fashion show.

Following the show, a stag or drag dance will be held in the fieldhouse. The fashion show is free, but there will be a fifty cents admission charge for the dance sponsored by the Central Dance Committee.

Zoning Violation Forces Students To Move from Off-Campus Homes

A group of BYU students who thought they were getting price finding themselves caught in the middle of a legal dispute.

These students live in the area between at 750 E. and 2500 N. Among the zoning laws affecting this area of $20,000 to $25,000 private homes is a requirement that not more than four roomers can live in each home.

TWO COMPLAINTS filed in Provo City court this week, according to city attorney Tom Taylor, by home owners in the area charge the real estate company and agent, pending several homes with violation of this ordinance and the company owning several dinance.

Though students are not legally responsible, they are sitting uneasily now, waiting to see if they will be forced to move. There are about 70 students potentially afected, according to Fred Schwendiman, BYU Housing Office.

THE COMPLAINTS were filed by home owners in the area. One of them, Ernest Salerno, 715 E. 2530 N., describes the action as "not against BYU students."

"The big problem in this area is unsupervised rental to students," he said.

He said that the development area, known as Crowfield Village, included a large number of homes which hadn't been sold. Seven such homes were rented to students.

SALERNO said that "about 32 out of 40 homeowners" want to enforce the zoning ordinance.

They do, he said, because of the traffic problems, noise caused by students and the fact that "boarding houses" in the area depreciated the value of other homes.

Salerno said that residents first discussed the problem last spring and the landlords were notified of the zone violation by the city and told not to rent to students again this year. If this had been done, "there wouldn't be a student hurt this year," he claims.

City attorney Tom Taylor directs part of the blame for the problem at students themselves. "They had some real wild parties last year," he said.

Bishop Lee Miller, BYU 17th Ward, has been vitally concerned with the problem since the area lies in his ward. He is helping students to re-locate when they have requested help, he said. He regards the student as being "caught in the middle" in the situation, saying, "the community has little to do with the students and the students have little to do with the community."

Solid Fuel Rocks Plant Basis of World Trouble At Bacchus

BACCHUS, (UPD) — A small building where ingredients for solid fueled rocket motors were mixed on Saturday at the Bacchus Works of Hercules Powder Co. in Western Salt Lake Valley.

R. G. Saller, assistant works manager, reported one man was killed and 15 known injured, five seriously. Two other workmen were "unaccounted for" and also may have been killed.

The Bacchus works, scene of a similar explosion last Aug. 23 in which three men died, manufactures the third stage engine for the Air Force Minuteman missile and the second stage of the Navy Polaris rocket. However, Saller said their production would not be disrupted by the accident.

The explosion came at 2:58 p.m., as the day shift at the plant, where 5,000 are employed, was nearly over.

The blast was in a small structure called the solvent evaporation building. Its walls were tumbled aside, roof knocked off and contents strewn about. However, high concrete-laced earthen dikes confined effects of the explosion to the immediate area. Only one other small nearby building was damaged.

In manufacturing solid fuel—a substance that in finished form resembles a black rubber type-writer eraser—small granules of nitro-cellulose are placed in fiberglass wound cases.

Into the casing is percolated highly-explosive nitro-glycerine, plus solvent and "plasticizer" to complete the mixture and change the ingredients into their solid form. After the casting process, surplus solvent is extracted.

Saller said about 4,000 pounds of solvent were involved in the centage of nitro-glycerin, was involved in today's accident. However, no actual rocket motors were in the demolished structure.

The five seriously injured men were taken to a Salt Lake City hospital for treatment, while the 10 with lesser hurts were treated at the plant clinic.

"Selfishness is the basis of our troubles on this campus, in this nation, in our world," said Gordon B. Hinckley, of the Council of Twelve Apostles, in his address to the BYU student body in Wednesday's devotional assembly.

Elder Hinckley expressed his concern about the selfish attitude people have in our modern world. He cited the example of a group of college students who, in answer to a questionnaire, stated that their main concern was with obtaining high paying jobs and a good life, and that they could think of nothing worth dying for.

IN COMPARING these young people to those who have given their lives for freedom, he said,

"One wonders about their sense of values."

If fear were becoming too engrossed in salary alone, Elder Hinckley stated, "the element of lives."

His instruction to the students was "Forget yourselves, lose yourselves in the service of others and in some great cause." In relating this to ambition, Elder said that "You are great only in so far as you serve."

SACRIFICE is the very essence of religion," he explained, "without it there is no true worship of God."

Elder Hinckley expressed the wish that all young people might feel as a young missionary in China felt when he stood in a testimony meeting and said, "I thank the Lord for eyes to see, mouth to speak, and feet to carry me from door to door to teach the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Speaking of the spirit of service, Elder Hinckley said, "If we ever lose it we'd just as well shut up shop."

Six Finalists Vie for Queen

Six Homecoming Queen finalists were chosen by Judges Wednesday night from 10 semi-finalists.

The six finalists and their sponsors were Mary Ann Tanner, Phi Chi Theta; Ann Chaudry, Beta Beta Beta; Betty Brown, Pi Sigma; Sidney Smith, Y Calcarers and Intercollegiate Knights; Marilyn Johnson, Sportsmen; and Shirley Cutler, Young Republican.

The finalists will be introduced in Friday's assembly. The studentbody will vote for the queen and her attendants Friday at booths in the Knight Bldg., Smith Bldg., McKay Bldg., Eyring Science Center, and Smith Family Living Center. The queen will be announced Tuesday.

On the Acropolis

With the passing of the social units, many gregarious students have felt pangs of loneliness. They long to be associated with some group. Well, take heart! Several new campus organizations have been established. They espouse various and sundry causes and pastimes. Surely there would be a club to satisfy the emotional, social, or psychological needs of any student. Following is brief comment on four prominent groups that might be of interest to many.

YAWN Society (Youth Activities for Weak Neurotics) If you're slowly sinking below the horizon with a burden of numerous worries and if you are finding it more and more difficult to life your heavy pencil or pen, you'll be interested in joining this outdoors group. Their goal and concern is to raise the standards of physical fitness on campus. The main activity of the club is a daily climb of the fieldhouse stairs. They plan a spring exchange with the Cougarettes. There will be a moonlight climb of the fieldhouse stairs. Dress will be formal.

CHAT Club (Codes of Honor for Eternity and All Time)

This club consists of a number of students who lament the sorry state of the honor system at BYU. They maintain that the honor code is slowly becoming a farce, and they hope to return the code to its place of honor. Every Thursday at 7:00 p.m., the group holds a half-hour crying session at the base of the Maeset statue.

CATS Club (Californians Are Too Self-centered)

The activities of this group are varied and exciting. At the first meeting there was a wienie roast with the burning of replicas of the Los Angeles County Stadium and the Golden Gate Bridge. Requirements for membership are rigid. The prospective member must agree to stop drinking orange juice. He is not allowed to have or acquire a sun tan. If he owns a pair of dark glasses, he must dispose of them immediately.

CHEAP Society (Costs of Higher Education Are Preposterous)

This society is concerned with the rising costs of attending BYU. When the $10.00 increase in tuition was announced last year, members staged a four-hour protest demonstration in front of the cashier's office. The membership fee for the club is $35.00. The group issues a monthly publication entitled "Helpful Suggestions on How to Outwit the Sharks On and Off Campus." It's mandatory that all members subscribe to this publication. The cost is $15.00 per semester.

You see, there's no reason to become a recluse. Just choose a band wagon and jump on. Or maybe you'd be content with merely the hand . . . or just the wagon. Anyway, there's something for everyone.

Play Admission Is 'Cheaper By the Dozen'

You can get in cheaper—by the dozen.

This year's first Youththeatre presentation, "Cheaper By the Dozen," will cater to groups of children and elders, or large families.

DR. CHARLES Metten, director of the three-act comedy announced that large groups of a dozen or more will receive discounts. The play is slated for Oct. 24-27, in College Hall.

The story centers around a large family, its love, hardships and fun. The cast, which includes a lovable dog, is presently in the final stages of rehearsal.

TICKETS ARE FREE with the presentation of a student activity card. General admission is 75c. For special "Cheaper-by-the-Dozen" discounts, contact Dr. Metten, Elkins House, (across from Paige School), ext. 2670. Tickets can be obtained in the J. S. ticket office, 11:00 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

School classes are especially invited. There will be matinees as well as evening performances. Dr. Metten commented,

Dr. Wilkinson to Speak To Pre-Med-Dent Club

Dr. L. Wilkinson, Jr., M.D. will speak at the Pre-Med-Dent Club at 7:30 tonight in 184 Knight Bldg.

Dr. Wilkinson graduated from BYU in 1944 and received his M. D. degree from Johns Hopkins. He did his graduate work in internal medicine and cardiovascular disease at Johns Hopkins, University of Utah and Harvard University.

PRESENTLY he is a partner in the Salt Lake Clinic where he specializes in internal medicine and cardiovascular.

Dr. Wilkinson also serves as a clinical assistant professor of medicine at U. of U. and as chief of medicine at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake. He is a diplomate on the American Specialty Board of Internal Medicine and a diplomate of the Subspecialty Board of Cardiovascular Disease.

AS A FORMER member of the admissions committee at the University of Utah for three years, he will speak on "How Better to Prepare Yourself for Admission

Y Musician Plays Horn with Kenton 70-yr.-old PHP Worker Keeps Y in Condition

A leader of the Y's Men Band made the "big leaguer" in August when he played the trumpet with the Stan Kenton Band at Lagoon.

"It was one of those strange coincidences," said Larry Bastian, senior, from Spokane, Wash., "that happens only once in a lifetime. I was at Lagoon, where Mr. Kenton was finishing a Salt Lake town. I was introduced by a friend to one of the band members who told us that the band was minus a trumpet player."

"MY FRIEND suggested that I fill in," he continued, "and before I knew it, he had permission from Mr. Kenton for me to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the evening. When the dance was over Mr. Kenton hired me to play for the next night, which was the last night there. It was a very exhilarating experience."

Larry, who has played the trumpet for 12 years, has had considerable experience playing jazz music, the kind for which the Stan Kenton Band is famous.

THE STINT with the Kenton Band was not Larry's first professional experience. For the past nine years he has played with dance bands in both Utah and California. His main interest, however, is the field of classical music and he plays intermittently with the Utah Symphony Orchestra.

Larry, in fulfilling the terms of an assistantship from BYU, is assisting the Music Department in the production of operas. He is a member of the BYU Symphony Orchestra, and has done string arrangements for a number of campus productions. He is also the author of "The Western Athletic Conference Salute," the music presented by the BYU Marching Band at Saturday night's game.

The first time I saw Lynn "Digger" Rogerson he was standing in an orchard with two huge machines circling around him, the same machines that he has been using for the past sixteen years to keep the grounds of BYU in the beautiful condition that they are now in.

Digger started work for the BYU in 1946 as head of the motor pool and operator of heavy equipment. He is now 70 years old and is the foreman in charge of heavy equipment under J. Carl Morrison, Supt. of the Grounds and Motor Pool Dept.

DIGGER STARTED his BYU career in a shack with a tar paper roof that was left by the contractors on Wymount Village. He built up a fleet of second hand and war surplus equipment into an efficient and well-organized fleet of maintenance machines.

His boss, Mr. Morrison, speaks in praise of Digger. At four o'clock in the morning Digger looks to see if it has snowed, he reported. If there is snow on the ground, he calls up his crew and has the roads cleared of snow when school starts.

Dave Stone to Emcee First High School Bowl

The first High School Bowl program will be heard Thursday at 4:30 p.m. on KSL-Radio. The first High School and Highland High, both of Salt Lake, will star in the premiere.

The program will be produced, directed, and charmaned by Dave Stone, ASBYU President and member of BYU's 61-62 College Bowl team.

THE PROGRAM will be run on much the same lines as College Bowl, stated Stone. Points will be awarded on two different types of questions, toss-up and bonus.

On toss-up questions, either side may buzz as soon as they have the answer. Ten points are usually awarded for these questions. If the first team interrupts the MC to answer the question and answers it incorrectly, they are penalized five points and the question is repeated for the other team. If both teams wait until the end of the question, no penalty is taken for an incorrect answer.

Gymnastics, Interest Add To PE Dept.

Renewed interest and emphasis in gymnastics and apparatus activity is giving new vigor to the physical education program at BYU. Courses offering one and two hour credits are now available for students interested in equipping themselves in the area of gymnastics.

THE EVENTS are planned to further the students' ability with agility, balance, control, timing, grace, and coordination. Students will find practice in uneven parallel bars, balance beams, trampolines, side horse and free exercise under the direction of Leano Holbrook, director, and Lu Wallace, instructor.

The one credit hour course entails attendance and participation in lectures and laboratories while the two credit hour course offers outside readings and preparation in addition to the regular outline. New and attractive apparatus and equipment lend interest and encouragement to these participating in these basic events.

SESSIONS WILL be held in the Women's Gymnasium from October 19 until November 17. For registration information, students should contact the Office of Special Courses and Conferences, Ext. 2111.

Five double sessions are scheduled as follows:

October 19, Friday—7-8 p.m.
October 20, Saturday—9-12 a.m.
October 26, Friday—7-9 p.m.
October 27, Saturday—9-12 p.m.
November 2, Friday—7-9 p.m.
November 3, Saturday—8-10 a.m.
November 9, Friday—7-9 p.m.
November 10, Saturday—9-12 a.m.
November 16, Friday—7-9 p.m.
November 17, Saturday—9-12 p.m.
November 17, Saturday—9-12 p.m.

FOR EVERY toss-up question a team answers correctly, they are given a chance at a bonus question. Points differ for these questions and no penalties are attached for incorrect answers. The other team does not get a chance to answer it.

The questions will be drawn generally from the fields of history, current affairs, literature, music, art, and sports. Stone will compile the questions with the help of "other sources" he did not disclose.

The winning team is invited to participate in the next week's contest. If they win five times in a row they retire as undefeated with the traveling trophy.

Feel Indecisive? You're Not Alone; Our Founding Fathers Goofed, Too

PHILADELPHIA, (UPI) — In appearance, the original draft of the U.S. Constitution, written here during the summer of 1787, could easily pass for a school-boy's term paper.

Words, sentences and paragraphs are crossed out and re-worked, and new ideas are scrawled in the margins, marked with asterisks. Hand-written on seven sheets of legal-sized paper, the original document still is legible despite the many corrections and long sentences squeezed on single lines.

THE PREAMBLE of the original exemplifies the extensive revision undertaken by the framers. It begins with, "The people of the States . . ." followed by the names of the original 13 states.

This subsequently was changed to read, "The people of the United States do agree upon . . ."

BUT "AGREE UPON" was crossed out and "ordain" was inserted. "Ordain" still apparently wasn't the right word, so "declare" was tried.

"Declare" wasn't right either, and the result was "establish."

Then someone inserted "We" at the beginning with a little arrow pointing up to it. The completed paragraph, which has stood the test of time ever since, begins: "We, the people of the United States . . ."

To Kiss or to Abstain?

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—The woman who kissed President Kennedy during his 1960 campaign will be among the missing when the President speaks here Sunday.

Mrs. John S. Kruk, wife of an army lieutenant colonel stationed at Niagara Falls, N.Y., said the men who protect the President had asked her to "stand clear" at the parade. She said she had planned to attend but will not in view of the request by the Secret Service.

Mrs. Kruk, who attracted nationwide attention when she kissed candidate Kennedy Sept. 28, 1960, said she "wouldn't dream" of doing the same thing again.

Cold Cranberry Loaf Offers Tempting Treat

Cottage Cranberry Loaf is an other unbeatable fruit 'n' cheese snack-time combination. Whether the occasion is a formal reception or a spur-of-the-moment gathering, this fruit-and-nut-studded bread will really make a hit.

The loaf's prime ingredients are cranberries, raisins, pecans and cottage cheese. The cottage cheese keeps the bread eating moist. As you taste this bread, you'll also note a hint of tangy orange and lemon.

This easy-to-follow recipe makes two loaves of bread, so you'll have one loaf to freeze, if you wish. Cool the loaves thoroughly before wrapping for the freezer or slicing to serve. The sliced bread tastes even better spread with butter or cream cheese.

Let everyone spread his own for informal occasions or serve the bread already buttered for tea time. You might also make dainty cream cheese-filled sandwiches for tea.

COTTAGE CRANBERRY LOAF

Small college football, a big business, is on the upsurge as the nation, and many small ones must be reckoned with in gridiron battles. Just ask anyone from Purdue, who lost to Miami of Ohio, a small college, on big.

THREE such football minded teams are following suit, and week's small college poll was some of the real comers on grid scene.

Florida A & M, unbeaten in 11 ties topped the poll and were city followed by Southern Mississippi and Fresno State, the West Coast's representative.

THE ONLY intermountain western rated were Arizona State at eighth, and Montana State.

Four squads representing the state are Humboldt State, and Florida Poly of Pomona.

They picked for the squad catcher Art Battley of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Dick Donaghy of the Cleveland Indians to complete the battery. The other elders were first-basemen Orlando Cepeda of the Giants, second-basemen Bobby Richardson of the Yankees, and third-basemen Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles. Tommy Davis of the Dodgers and Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds were the two outfielders chosen.

EACH OF THE eight regulars voted in at least 148 games each made it apparent that durability played a part in the decision of the UPI scribe's. Six of the players honored were National Leaguers and four were American Leaguers. Six of the oday a young and very promising cross-country team will head to Logan, Utah to represent the "V" in their first meet of the season. At 3:30 this afternoon the gun will sound on the course at Logan signaling start of this year's athletic rivalry between BYU and Utah State University.

THE COUGARS have traditionally turned out excellent track cross-country squads. This year returning lettermen Dean Bell and Larry Austin, junior Phil Wilward, and freshmen Morgan, Keith Westover, Keith Grebe, and Don Tolman will be up to uphold that tradition in the new Western Athletic Conference.

Dick Darling

D. Darling Clears Way Hunters

by Stan Hodge
Universe Sports Writer

Who opens the holes which enable elusive Mr. FORTIE to pile up his record breaking yardage? A good deal of the credit should go to senior blocking back, Dick Darling.

DARLING, FROM Caldwell, Idaho, has stood out in athletics since high school. He compiled 13 varsity letters in high school sports. In his junior and senior years he was named to the all-state football team.

In his senior year he had the added distinction of being the only player in the state named to both the offensive and the defensive units.

DICK PLAYED quarterback in high school and was moved to fullback when he came to the "V" where he stood out during his first two years. When Coach Mitchell adopted the single-wing offense he recognized Dick's blocking and moved him to a blocking back position.
